

Introducing the FedExCup Fall

New to the PGA TOUR schedule, the FedExCup Fall made its debut in 2023. The new fall schedule consists of seven events and these tournaments are the determining factor in players retaining their PGA TOUR cards for the 2024 season.

FedExCup Fall Schedule

September 11 – 17	Fortinet Championship
October 2 – 8	Sanderson Farms Championship
October 9 – 15	Shriners Children’s Open
October 16 – 22	ZOZO Championship
October 30 – November 5	World Wide Technology Championship
November 6 – 12	Butterfield Bermuda Championship
November 13 – 19	The RSM Classic

While many of these events have been on the PGA TOUR schedule previously, their status holds more weight in 2023. Players who did not finish within the top 70 in the 2023 FedExCup will retain their points and play the FedExCup Fall events to determine their positioning for the 2024 season. Also, players who finished between 51-70 carry over their points from the 2023 season into the fall to earn spots in the first two Signature Events following the Sentry Tournament of Champions in January.

Winners of FedExCup Fall events will receive a two-year PGA TOUR exemption, 500 FedExCup points, and a spot in the Sentry Tournament of Champions, THE PLAYERS Championship, The Masters, and the PGA Championship. At the end of the FedExCup Fall events, which conclude at The RSM Classic, all points will be finalized for those who finished outside the top 70, and these players’ 2024 status will be decided.

FedExCup Points Breakdown at conclusion of FedExCup Fall

Top 30 (Pre-determined)	Two-year exemption on PGA TOUR
Top 50 (Pre-determined)	Retain PGA TOUR card; exempt for 2024 full-field and Signature Events
Top 51 – 125	Retain PGA TOUR card; exempt for 2024 full-field events
Top 126 – 150	Conditional PGA TOUR status for 2024 season

What it means for The RSM Classic

One last chance.

Simply put, one final attempt for many of the world’s best to gain status on the PGA TOUR.

With the start of the fall season at the Fortinet Championship in September, the PGA TOUR has returned to a calendar-year schedule, and the seven tournaments that follow the TOUR Championship have taken on a new significance. The FedExCup Fall promises to provide greater drama and more immediate consequence than ever before as players face off in high-stakes competition with their PGA TOUR status at stake.
